So lonely tonight soon the sun brings the morning light so empty inside nothing's wrong and yet nothing's right I've been searching my face found nothing but an empty space waves crashing to land words from my heart disappears in the sand

The tide is turning, my heart is still burning my life without you is so hard

Angeline, you came, you saw, you conquered my heart Angeline, no words can tell this feeling that dwell inside, of me

Where are you now?
I can still feel you close somehow my heart's longing for you eyes as bright as the ocean blue

Tell me, are you lonely tonight? can you see the morning light?
do you feel empty inside? cause nothing's wrong and nothing's right

The tide is turning, my heart is still burning
my life without you is so hard

Angeline...

The sky is wide open and I feel the breeze filling my world with pleasure and peace I'm not the man that I used to be won't you please come and set my soul free

Angeline...
